NIGEL CARINS

As a teacher, state coordinator of swimming and water safety and executive member of the Royal life Saving Society, Nigel Carins was a dedicated and active educator.

Nigel's involvement in developing young people and providing them with opportunities was extensive. For 25 years he passionately contributed to the Primary School's Dance Event and was instrumental in the programs phenomenal growth and popularity. A member of ACHPER from the outset of his career he believed strongly in contributing to the learning of colleagues and in sharing best practice. Many pre-service teachers had the benefit of watching Nigel teach children to be safe and competent in a variety of aquatic environments.

Nigel gave everything to his profession, shaped young people's lives and was a strong advocate for the swimming and water safety program. His legacy continues today with primary students involved in swimming, water safety and dance programs across the state.
